"My Love Affair With Lara Croft!"

An important message from MAD's
Director of Business & Development,
DAN BROWN

Consider a lobster. Or a man in a lobster suit. Or a lobster in a man's suit (not shown). Either way, it's obvious to even the most casual of lobster observers that lobsters don't give a damn. That's where I come in.

And that's where MAD comes in. Yes, MAD — the magazine whose time is and was and continues to be — gives a damn about what you consider, whether you consider it or not. This includes not just crustaceans but other sea creatures (also not shown) and even creatures that aren't sea creatures. (Sorry, no room to show them, either.)

The important thing to remember is that it's important to remember important things, even things that don't seem important, like MAD, which is very important — at least when compared with a lobster. Except perhaps at a lobster dinner, which, like subscribing to MAD, is a good idea for you, but not a lobster.

That's why I don the lobster suit and risk the scalding hot kettle and the drawn butter sauce. Because I give a damn about what's important, even though lobsters don't.

"THE MAD 20"

Thank you very much for "A Newspaper Ad We'd Like to See" in "The MAD 20" (#377). As religious people who are working to combat intolerance of sexual and religious minorities, we greatly appreciated the care and thought that obviously went into the production of that one page. Actions like yours ultimately make all the difference. Again, thank you.

Barbara and Christopher Purdom
Interfaith Working Group Coordinators
Philadelphia, PA

Babs and Chris — Thank you for your letter! Our prayers have been answered. We had no idea what the hell point the writer was trying to make on that page. The confusion was like a thick fog that permeated the MAD offices. We pray you will write again soon! —Ed.

ATTENTION SUBSCRIBERS!

For all subscription-related matters (including change of address) in the U.S. and Canada, please call 1-800-4 MAD MAG or write P.O. BOX 52345, Boulder, CO 80322-2345! Please DO NOT phone, write, fax or E-mail our New York office — we're too dumb to help you there!

HOLY MOSES!

CHARLTON HESTON

To the Editors:

I'm delighted to have finally made at least the back cover of MAD, a magazine that has delighted me for years.

Best wishes,

CD-ROM ALERT!

We hope you're sitting down for this! We are putting every issue of MAD on a set of searchable CD-ROMS! The set, called TOTALLY MAD, also includes material from Super Specials and other fun garbage! Scheduled to arrive this Fall, if you would like electronic updates on the project, send your E-Mail address to: TotallyMADInfo@Learningco.com. (Do NOT send your address to MAD!) You can stand up now!

HOW TO REACH US

Please Address Correspondence To: MAD, Dept. 381, 1700 Broadway, New York, New York 10019. MAD welcomes reader submissions. Manuscripts will not be returned or acknowledged, however, unless they are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope! MAD doesn't read faxed submissions!

YOU OUGHTA BEANY PICTURES

As anyone who attended last summer's Philadelphia Folk Festival will fondly remember, the highlight of the event was the appearance of MAD Associate Art Director Nadina "Beany" Simon. Cheers of "Bea-ny! Bea-ny!" could be heard rippling throughout the crowd. Always magnanimous, Beany helped fulfill a lifelong dream of legendary folk artist Arlo Guthrie when she agreed to have her photo taken with him. Coincidentally, Arlo happened to have the latest copy of MAD tucked into his guitar case and insisted on putting it in the shot! All readers are invited to send in pictures of themselves with Beany for possible inclusion in future letters pages. Parents of Beany and her immediate family are excluded. Address all correspondence to the "It's me with Beany" Editor, MAD Magazine, 1700 Broadway, New York, NY 10019.

HANSON FANS WRITE —

MAD Magazine, you suck big time, especially that horrid person who wrote that morbid "The Incredible Hanson Story, From Start to Finish." (MAD #377) Hanson have worked for seven freakin' years, and finally they got their dreams fulfilled to perform for their devoted fans. They're very talented musicians, but somehow you can't see that. Hanson deserve their success and are having their dreams come true, but you don't respect them, you made that mean story! You can't judge what their future will be like — but one thing I know, their future will not be like that! You probably think that's some funny joke, but it's not, it hurt me real bad when I saw that. So I wrote to tell you to stop putting mean Hanson stories in your magazine! Think about the people who love Hanson (including me), you're hurting our feelings. We love Hanson and if you knew how Hanson really were, you wouldn't have wrote that horrid story!

A MORON MAIL SPECIAL

I recently purchased an issue of your magazine (#377) for my daughter's 11th birthday. She is a huge Hanson fan and was very offended by your so-called spoof of the band ("The Incredible Hanson Story, From Start to Finish") as was I. I found it disgusting, vulgar and insulting, not only to the band but also to their fans. With so many teens into drugs, gangs, violence and sex, these three brothers are traveling around the world entertaining millions of fans doing something they love to do. They are very talented and have worked very hard to make a name for themselves in a very competitive business and I feel they should be congratulated, not ridiculed.

In two years, they have been to more countries, met more people, and learned more about the different cultures of the world than most people, myself included, could ever dream of. Even if they don't become superstars or their careers should end tomorrow, they can look back and take pride in what they have accomplished at such a young age, and be assured that their fans will continue to enjoy their music for years to come.

If this is the depths you have to sink to sell your magazines, I have bought my first, and I guarantee, my last MAD.

Sheila MacDonald

Old MacDonald — Thank you for your letter, which we happily reprinted in its entirety. It is rare that we receive such an articulate and complimentary missive. Any time an article is called "disgusting, vulgar and insulting" we know we've earned our pay. Thanks for writing! —Ed.

There's a nightmare world of unreality, where virtual humans fight to overcome a programmed hell. It's called "playing video games"! (The stuff that happens as part of the games isn't any prettier.) This is your brain... this is your brain on PlayStation... any questions? You're probably saying, "Ho ho! This spiral into abject insanity could never happen to me!" THE DIARY OF A

December 6, 1998

Tomorrow is the BIG DAY. The day the truck drives up with the real cartridges for the real Tomb Raider 3 game, not just the dinky demo discs. The guy who owns the store told me about the delivery a week ago. But to be on the safe side, I checked with him again on Monday, then on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and twice on Friday, then three times yesterday. I don't understand how that guy stays in business with the filthy things he calls his customers.

December 7, 1998

I got it!!! I GOT IT!!! But it was so weird, Diary. No one else was waiting on line to get Tomb Raider 3 but me. So I guess I didn't have to sit out in that ice storm for 12 hours after all. Oh well, it's not like I was going to sleep anyway. It was terribly cold. And the zipper on my sleeping bag froze up, so I couldn't close it properly. Now I have no movement in two of the fingers on my left hand. That's okay, though. I shoot with my right hand. I can always Crazy Glue the control panel onto my numb hand.

December 25, 1998
My family

My family is so stupid. They made me come down to open Xmas presents with them when I was just about to clear the Caves of Kaliya. I guess I was still P.O.'d so I told my stupid sister that the radio was reporting that fragments of Santa Claus' sleigh were discovered by the Coast Guard off the coast of Maine. What a crybaby she is. Anyway, how can I concentrate on celebrating the holy season when there are so many heads still to be splattered?

December 27, 1998
Lara Larra

Lara, ara

Lara. Lara. Larrrrrrrra. Whenever I wake up, she is there, staring at me. Whenever I go to sleep, she is there, staring at me. I've started to change clothes in the bathroom.

December 15, 1998

Lard Lard
Lard

Sorry I haven't written in a few weeks, but I have been busy, Diary. I've been spending 16 to 20 hours a day learning all the nuances of the jumps and flips. I've mastered every vault, every grab, shimmy and flaming monkey swing in the whole game. I've never felt more physically energetic. It's like I'm inside the game itself, putting my actual self on the line, pushing my body to the limit.

TOMB RAIDER FANATIC

January 16, 1998

Bad news. The doctor says two-thirds of my muscles have atrophied by 40% in the past three weeks. I'm supposed to go on an exercise and vitamin diet. Luckily, I convinced the doctor to give me a home IV. That way, I can hook myself up to a feeding tube while I play.

January 22, 1998

Well, I was finally healthy enough to go back to school today. Caroline came looking for me. As soon as I saw her, I knew that the magic between us was gone. How could I stay attracted to a blah tenth grader, compared to a thrilling adventurer-anthropologist like my Lara? Caroline is so bland by comparison, so drab. I bet she wouldn't even know what to do with a grenade launcher.

January 24, 1998

I got fired from my job at the supermarket. That idiot boss was screaming at me, just because I blocked three aisles by stacking 138 boxes + barrels before the store opened. It was supposed to be my tribute to the terrain in Mudubbu Gorge, but that fool didn't want to hear it and fired me.

I told him off, though. I just looked him square in the eye and said, "Oh yeah? If you ask me, YOU'RE as useless as one of the Shivas just past the Ganesha Keys door, after Lara's taken away your scimitar and placed it into one of the empty hands of the statue on the ledge." Ha HA! Man, the dopey look that came across his face when I said that was priceless. Who's the big loser NOW?

February 1, 1998

Now that I've been avoiding my RL girlfriend Caroline and have no job to go to, I've finally been able to devote more time to Tomb Raider 3. It's been wonderful!

I'm glad for the Kill Totals between rounds. They give a person about four seconds to think and reflect on the larger lessons of Tomb Raider. I think people will look back and see Lara Croft as THE 20th-century philosopher. As she goes from country to country in the game, she's really saying that people of all cultures, be they Indian, Native American, European, Antarctic, whatever, are all the same. The same hopes, the same dreams. And if I didn't have to blow them all away with direct head shots, I think we could all have been friends.

February 8, 1999

While I was making one of my food runs from the game to the kitchen and back, I heard my parents talking. Apparently my father is going to the hospital, or someplace. I would have listened closer, but I wasn't 100% positive I'd slaughtered all the raptors.

February 10, 1999

Certain moments in life equal pure magic. As I entered the tribal temple, I saw Lara look right at me. My hands froze. I had her for a brief shining second, truly had her.... and then I lost her. As her bullet-riddled corpse collapsed in a lifeless heap, I never felt so close to any woman.

February 26, 1999

The video place has a strategy guide to Tomb Raider 3. It contains every hidden ammo location, every level walkthrough, every single cheat code. I got sweaty just looking at the cover. But how can I justify taking the easy way out, when Lara puts her life on the line without complaint? My conscience is strong. I'll never look.

February 27, 1999

I won't look. I won't look.

February 28, 1999

I didn't look today. No, no, no, no, no.

March 1, 1999

I hate myself.

Lara knows what I've done, I think. She seems so distant, so unresponsive. I don't know... it's so weird. It's almost as if there's a glass barrier between us.

March 2, 1999

Well, once I got the codes, I figured I might as well zip all the way through to the last screen of the game. At long last, my name can go alongside all the greatest warriors of history. And I bet none of them ever had to frag a giant snow spider.

February 11, 1999

I can sense Caroline is jealous of the attention I've been paying to TR3. I'll guess I'll have to tell her that it's over. I almost did it by accident last night. Right at the end of fooling around, I unthinkingly shouted out, "Bounce off the steep slope and double back!" Luckily, I was able to think quickly. I told her that what I'd really said was "Oh, baby."

February 20, 1999

What a waste of a day, Diary. I had to waste a Crystal to save my game, because the whole family had to go to my father's funeral. He died Wednesday, I think. He didn't even die from any-thing cool like getting crushed by rotating spikes or devoured by piranha. How lame. Life and death really makes a person think about things a whole other way. At the funeral home, one unanswerable question kept running through my mind the entire time. WHO are they going to get to play Lara in the Tomb Raider movie?

It has to be Liv Tyler. It just HAS to. If they don't sign Liv Tyler, I swear I'll boycott the whole stupid film. I'll only go to see it twice the first day it opens. Screw them.

March 8, 1999

What a dodo I've been. I was so focused on getting to the end of the game I ignored the journey itself. Fortunately, I've spent a lot of time staring and staring at the screens in between and the truth has hit me like a ton of dragon amulets. Tomb Raider 3 is secretly filled with secret signals, sent directly from Lara to me.

It makes me laugh at all the other players out there who are too dense to notice our hidden correspondence. It used to drive me crazy with jealousy that thousands and thousands of other guys were fiddling with her buttons, making Lara...do things. But now that I've spotted Lara's personal love messages, it's obvious that it's only me that she cares for. I'll never reveal her secrets to those perverts. But I can tell you, Diary.

I suppose it first became clear when I realized that the enemies Lara runs over with her snowmobile don't count as official "kills" in the end-of-level stats. "Why? Why?" I kept asking myself. Then I looked with eyes that finally saw. The SNOW. And what is snow? Nothing but frozen water. Next, there's all the underwater swimming. More H2O. The fire pits? You put fire out with water. Area 51? Well, that one's in a 130-degree desert, which was a toughie. I had to think. Then it came to me...Puerto Rico is practically our 51st state! And what is Puerto Rico surrounded with? That's right, H2O. Water, water everywhere!

Badly shaken, I even went back to Tomb Raiders 1 and 2...and realized that the first game included Venice -- and the second one had the 40 Fathoms level. I sobbed when I understood for how long Lara Croft has been trying to contact me.

But as I suffered, I counted each individual stone in all the walls, floors and corridors of the game. Eleven hours later, I was happy when it added up to 3,081,999. As in "3-08-1999"...today's date! Oh, this is so much bigger than me and Lara. I guess some things were meant to be discovered on fate's schedule.

March 9, 1999

I'm writing from the video store. Now that I know Lara is sending me love messages, I'm 100% positive that Tomb Raider 4 will list a time and meeting place. I just hope it's not near the Equator, because I get heat rash pretty easily.

The owner was screaming at me to get out, because Tomb Raider 4 won't even be on sale until 2001. Like I don't know that. Doesn't he comprehend that "2001" and "H2O" share TWO of the same digits? This is destiny. I can wait.

April 12, 1999

I'm writing this from the Sega-Kettering Videogame Rehab patient ward. Three burly men came into the video store and took me away. They've been administering electric shocks every time I try to pick up a bonus or jump onto a ledge. After a few weeks of treatment, I've lost all interest in Tomb Raider 4 or any other videogame. I get to go home tomorrow, but NO MORE joysticks! The doctors have shown me that board games like Clue and Parcheesi can be just as exciting. And I get less obsessed with them.

I feel so much healthier now. It's great to be totally cured. Besides...Professor Plum is really cute!

Shaq will be hand-delivering refunds to all 614 people who paid to see Steel and Kazaam.

The players' private cell phone numbers will be printed in the programs, so fans can call them up on the bench and harass them.

Michael Jordan will make a surprise appearance at a Nike sweatshop, and present one of the two thousand 10-year-old seamstresses with their very own autographed poster.

HOOP SCHEMES DEPT.

During those hard months when the basketball owners locked out the players, millions of sports fans had the same, simple question: "Oh, was there supposed to be basketball?" Whooops! Unlike when baseball actually made their actual fans actually angry, pro basketball found out they have only one fan: a Mr. Brian Wecht of Burns Harbor, Indiana. And he had some sealing work to do on the back of his house anyway. Nope, if these pituitary cases and their billionaire bosses want to put fannies back in the $400 seats, they're going to have to make some conciliatory gestures! Here's...

On off days, NBA superstars will hang out in supermarkets, to help regular people get items off the top shelves.

How the NBA plans to Win Back the Love of their Former Fans

Dennis Rodman will visit our nation's nursery schools and let the kids doodle tattoos on the rest of him.

Ten fans will be chosen at random to play the first half of the May 16th Wizards-Cavalliers game because hell, who cares?

At every game, a special 500-seat rooting section will be set aside for the players' illegitimate children.

Everybody gets a complimentary 20-minute highlight videotape: "All the Best of The Magic Hour Complete."

The least-common question asked by the actor during the shooting of this video was, "What's my motivation?"

This woman considers herself a "real" actress because she has slept with Ron Jeremy, who slept with Traci Lords, who was in Tammyknockers with E.G. Marshall, who was in 12 Angry Men with Henry Fonda, who was in Mister Roberts with Jack Lemmon, who was in JFK with Kevin Bacon.

NEW PRODUCTS FOR A NEW AGE

Mr. Tofu Head

Another imaginative alternative toy from the makers of Tickle Me Enya. It's a fun way to teach your children the importance of a bland soy-based diet. Mr. Tofu Head can be used to make faces that are firm or soft, depending upon the type of tofu used. And best of all, unlike potatoes, after it's played with, the tofu can be eaten with no noticeable loss of taste!

The Sprout Hat

Now, for the first time, nutritious salad ingredients are as close as the top of your head! The revolutionary Sprout Hat is easy to use — just dunk your head in a bucket of water every hour! Available in baseball cap/alfalfa, fedora/mung bean and fez/chickpea. From the makers of the revolutionary Mushroom Sock.

Gandhi Toothpaste

Finally, you can fight tooth decay and gum disease the same way Gandhi fought the oppressors of his people — with passive resistance! Wake up every morning to the refreshing taste of onion chutney or vindaloo curry. Recommended by four out of five Mahatmas for their followers who have teeth!

The Inflatable Guru

Made of sturdy polyvinyl chloride, The Inflatable Guru can resemble an emaciated fasting holy man or repulsively obese Buddha, depending upon level of inflation. You decide! Optional voice chip features lecture on the evils of materialism. You'll be the envy of all your New Age friends!

HAVE A HAPPY BENDING WITH YOGA

Yoga is a complete science of life which originated in India thousands of years ago when they had nothing else to do. Its physical and spiritual benefits may be enjoyed by anyone who can afford daily sessions with a private instructor at $85 per hour. At first glance, Yoga may seem to be little more than a series of strange physical postures that eat up so much of your time you don't have the energy to do real exercise. But soon, anyone who continues with regular practice attains a new awareness, an awareness that Yoga IS little more than a series of strange physical postures that leave little time for real exercise. With that, comes true serenity.

Practice the following three basic postures everyday and you will quickly discover for yourself how much your neighbors will mock you if you don't close your drapes.

By His Holiness
Swami Doublechin Moy

Advanced Barber Pole Twist
With Full Tongue Extension

Wearing striped red and white clothing, stand with your spine erect. Without moving your legs, twist your upper body to the right. Keep twisting to the right until you've turned your torso completely around six times. Open mouth and elongate tongue in a frantic effort to breathe. Relax.

The Squirming Trout

Standing on a chair or small stool, clasp hands behind back and extend neck and face upwards. Flare nostrils widely and catch nose on fishhook attached to line hung from ceiling. (Note: 200 lb. test minimum is suggested.) Gently step off chair or stool and dangle helplessly in mid-air, clearing your mind of all thoughts except being rescued. Relax.

The Peaceful Moron

Stand with your feet wide apart, exhaling as you begin bending forward. Curl your head between your knees. Continue bending forward and pushing the head upward until it fully disappears from view. Breathe deeply. Relax.

ORGANIC HAIR STYLING

Starr Leery's Organic Hair Salon
89 Flaking Way
Skullagony, NY 71651

Finally, there's an alternative to traditional barbers and beauty parlors, both of which damage your hair and scalp by shampooing, cutting and shaping. At Starr Leery's Organic Hair Salon we don't use ozone-damaging electric clippers or metal scissors which upset your body's delicate magnetic fields. Starr and her trained staff yank your hair out by the fistful as relaxing new age music plays in the background. Our non-judgmental salon is mirror-free, so our patrons never fall into self-destructive and energy draining behaviors such as criticizing our work and leaving without paying. Appointments not necessary.

Ralphing

Ralphers International
411 Raccoon Drive
Trixie, OK 54271

Ralphing is a series of 39 syndicated half hours that helps you escape the stress and trauma of your life by learning all there is to know about Ralph Kramden and then to imitate his lifestyle totally. Our certified Ralphers will teach you how to quickly gain 100 pounds or more, shout unnecessarily, and threaten to send your loved ones "to the moon." Many of our clients now live in Brooklyn and drive buses. Several are friends of sewer workers. Ralphing is a safe and effective way of unlocking your full human potential by making your life more miserable than it is.

Past-Life Depressions

Dr. Bennett Curve,
New Age Charlatan
212-173-7000

You have lived before. It is your BIRTHRIGHT to know all of the emotional hang-ups, problems, illnesses and dysfunctional relationships that made you unhappy in your previous lives.

Through regressive trance hypnosis, I will help you dredge up your worst experiences of the past 2,000 years so that you may suffer more fully in the here and now. Call for an appointment.

THE MICROBIOTIC CENTER

The Microbiotic Center
12 Minute Blvd.
Smallville, FL 82727

The Microbiotic Center offers you the opportunity to expand your understanding of Microbiotics, the ancient method of achieving optimum spiritual and physical well-being by eating extraordinarily small portions of food. Our belief is that if you can see 80% of your meal, it's no good for you. In our beginners cooking class you'll prepare dishes you won't be able to spot without a magnifying glass. Occasionally, we are visited by the father of Microbiotics, Minuscule Kushi, although he frequently slips in and out without anyone noticing.

The Hypocrisy Institute

The Hypocrisy Institute
25 Pretense Lane
Insincerity, MA 02116

We, the staff at The Hypocrisy Institute, are dedicated to teaching you one thing while we're doing another. Learn the benefits of sprouting and a raw vegetarian diet while we're in the back room feasting on rump roast. Spend an entire week chanting and doing strenuous yoga exercises while we're sipping piña colodas in our heated swimming pool. Every Saturday at 4 PM we host a free open house. Admission is $15.

The Healthy Smiling Pita

by Mark Medawful

When innovative restaurateur Sandy Miso closed his legendary Organic Yeast Kitchen last year, it left a void in the New Age restaurant scene. The good news is Sandy is back with The Healthy Smiling Pita, and he's more committed than ever to providing a holistic and eco-friendly dining experience. As soon as we entered the cozy bistro, large horseflies descended upon us, emphasizing the cruelty-free policy of the owner. The swarm was so great that we almost didn't notice the mice and large rats playfully scurrying by our feet. Sandy, a passionate supporter of animal rights, happily does not believe in exterminators.

Editor's note: Since this review was written, the Healthy Smiling Pita has been condemned by the Board of Health and is now closed.

The Amazing Backwaster Chair

Traditional furniture makers have long believed a chair should be soft and comfortable, the kind of thing you could lean back in and relax. THIS IS WRONG! Modern New Age research has proven that to maintain optimum spine health, your back must be contorted into a figure 8, as nature intended. Our Backwaster line of chairs and car seats forcibly twist the body into this highly beneficial position. You'll notice the change in your posture within 10 days or your money back!

The environmentally sound restaurant does not use harmful chemical detergents to wash dishes, as the dried, crusted leftover food on our plates attested to. Our waiter told us that all dinnerware is used by four or five customers before they're rinsed off, to conserve water and foster a sense of community. How refreshing!

We began our meal with a raw salad in which we spotted unhatched maggot larvae, living proof that the leafy greens were not treated with toxic pesticides. For our main course, we tried the free-range baked chicken. Sandy thoughtfully insures the freshness of the chickens by raising them right there in the restaurant — we could tell, by the persistent smell of dung and the frenzied squawks of the birds being slaughtered somewhere near the coat check area. Most restaurants, New Age or otherwise, do not go this extra mile for their customers.

The Healthy Smiling Pita receives our highest rating — it is a dining experience in an environment uncompromisingly faithful to New Age principles!

Welcome aboard Turbulent Air Flight #4522, non-stop service from Newark to Seattle via Houston, Atlanta, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Raleigh-Durham, Peewaukee, Atlanta again and Denver. I'm your flight attendant, Angelique. Before we take off, please direct your attention to the front of the cabin as we present these...

Brutally Honest Flight Attendant Announcements

We encourage all passengers to review the important Passenger Safety Information Cards in the seat pocket in front of you. Each card is laminated and completely waterproof which will allow you to review it easily, even as you float on your seat cushion in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean.

Please refrain from using electronic devices such as cellular phones, as they may interfere with our navigation equipment. You may, however, use our in-seat Airfones at any time. They may also interfere with our navigation equipment, but since we're charging you $87 for the first 30 seconds and $21 for each additional fraction of a second, we're willing to risk it.

If you are sitting in an emergency exit row, FAA regulations require that you know how to read and speak English. They also require that you must not be easily intimidated by the hostile stares of other passengers who hate you because you have three more feet of leg room than they do. In the unlikely event of an emergency, simply lift the springboard wodge off the posterior clatch, while simultaneously hooking the platinum hedgebolt to the front spinlock before a hundred screaming passengers rush and trample you in a chaotic stampede.

All carry-on baggage must be stored in the overhead bins. For your comfort and safety, most bins are already filled with blankets, pillows, fire extinguishers, first aid kits and crew luggage. Be sure to secure the bins carefully, although even properly secured bins may open suddenly in mid-flight and drop their 500 lbs. of contents on your head.

As soon as we are airborne we will begin our beverage service. You'll receive your choice of soft drinks in a flimsy, wide-mouth plastic cup that will crack and spill its contents in your lap the moment you pick it up. Should you wish a refill, please signal for a flight attendant and wait patiently in your seat until you forget you're thirsty.

Today's meal selection includes a choice of meatloaf or chicken croquettes. If you're a vegetarian, don't worry — neither of these selections contain any meat. If you ordered a special meal, please push your flight attendant's call button so we may inform you that it wasn't put aboard this flight. Please pay close attention as our steward now demonstrates how our complimentary in-flight magazine can quickly be turned into an air-sickness bag in six easy origami steps.

Headphones may be rented for $6. There are 14 channels of audio, two featuring music selections and 12 featuring annoying static. You can also use the headphones to listen to our in-flight movie — a heavily-edited, 26-minute version of My Giant.

For your convenience, this plane is equipped with four rest rooms. Two are out of order, one smells like that fat guy in seat 13B and one is reserved for First Class passengers wishing to join the Mile High Club.

We are pleased to announce that members of our Clipped Wings Club will receive 3,000 miles for today's flight. You can exchange these miles for free travel once you've accumulated 250,000. To receive a free travel award you must make reservations 14 months in advance and fly through our Bismarck, North Dakota hub no matter where your final destination may be. Other restrictions, too numerous to mention, also apply.

When the captain has turned off the overhead seat belt light you may move your seat to a recline position. If you cannot figure out how to do this, just ask the person in front of you whose head will be resting on your lap once they're in a reclining position.

In a moment the captain will be turning off the cabin lights. Feel free to use your individual reading light above your seat. And don't worry about dozing off while you read — we'll be disturbing you every eight seconds for the next five hours with more helpful information like this!

SMASH!

KUPER

PBS has this program where antique appraisers travel the country, and people bring them their family heirlooms, things they've dug out of the neighbor's trash, etc., to have them appraised. In case you haven't actually seen it, here are some...

Mrs. Henderson, you've got a rather interesting item here, why not tell us about it?

This is a Bible that's been in our family for several generations. It's been passed down from my great-grandmother to my grandmother and then my mother and then my cousin because my mother hated me!

Then when my cousin died she willed it to her friend. Then her friend died and she willed it to another friend and that's who I stole it from.

Now I understand that this Bible has a rather interesting inscription, is that right?

Yes! If you look inside the front cover here, it was signed by Jesus Christ himself! I figured that with his signature, it might be worth something!

Well, I'll be honest with you, Mrs. Henderson... I find this very troubling indeed!

Oh?

Yes! Because you see, if you look here on what we call the "title page," you can actually see a copyright date, which is almost 2,000 years after Jesus died!

Oh! I see! Hmmm.

Another thing we notice when we flip back to the signature, we see that Christ's signature is written in English...and we're almost certain that Christ would have signed it in Hebrew, or perhaps in Latin, but never English!

Perhaps the most damning testimony of all is provided by the ink with which the signature was written! By examining it carefully under one of these thingamajigs that jewelers use we see that it was actually written with a ball-point pen! And we know Jesus to be a fountain pen man!

So, I regret to inform you that what you've got here is nothing more than a clever forgery!

Of course, that probably means nothing to you since you're clearly delusional! Um, any idea what this Bible might be worth?

Well, I thought maybe it might be worth about a zillion dollars! But since the signature was forged, maybe it's only worth a squillion?

Sure, why not? If by "a squillion" you mean about a buck fifty, then you're right!

Oh wow! Thank you! Thank you!

You have very unique cornucopia of baubles here on the table, Randy! What can you tell me about them?

This is just a buncha crap I got outta my truck!

I wuz gonna dump all this in the dumpster out back, but some guard caught me so I told him I wuzn't dumpin' it. I wuz comin' ta get it appraised!

That's wonderful! These items seem to have outstanding provenance!

"Prov-ih...?" Whut th' hell?

"Provenance"! That's a fancy-shmancy way of saying "history"!

Oh! Well, I wuz never too good at hiztorry!

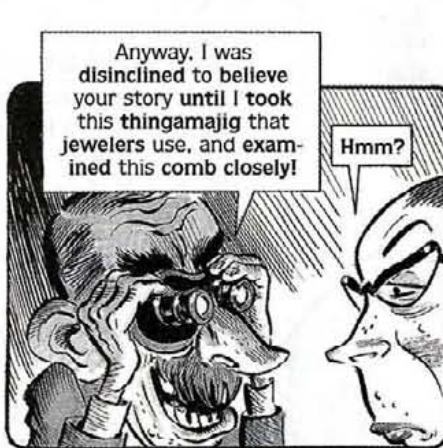

Like this crumpled beer can...what can you tell me about it?

Well Haw! This is a good'n! Me an' my buddy Rick, we both got (Beep!) -faced, an then Rick sez, "I bet if I crushed this on my head I wouldn't feel it!" An then I sez, "Well then why'n't yuh do it, yuh (Beep!) -damn (Beep!) -hole!"

Celebrity paparazzi. These lowlife weasels will stop at nothing to catch a hapless notable in a compromising position. They are the lowest form of pond matter, without a shred of decency or regard for the privacy of others. Fortunately for most of us, the paparazzi only bother the rich and famous. Ask the average person if they've been the victim of a paparazzi attack, and they'll say, "Of course not. I'm not famous!" But ask a typical MAD reader, and he'll say, "Why yes! In fact there's a paparazzo stalking me in my refrigerator!" So for delusional maniacs like you, our core readership, we present...

Never, under any circumstance, let them get a photo of you naked.

An intimidating entourage composed of multiple personalities can go a long way toward keeping pesky Minolta monkeys in their place.

Always be aware that tabloid photo sharks will use unlikely hiding places in order to snap titillating scenes of your private life.

Wide-angle wackjobs should be warned up front about what you consider off limits.

THE PARANOID PSYCHOTIC'S GUIDE TO FOILING PAPARAZZI

Don't be taken in by elaborate schemes intended to dupe you into dropping your guard.

Don't be afraid of confrontation. Obsessed Nikon nitwits should be told when they've crossed the line.

Nothing makes a better shield to hide behind than a rambling manifesto.

When cornered by a persistent paparazzo, do your best to control the shot.

Gravel Vista Gardens

Through a recently-negotiated agreement with the Federal Government's Decommissioned Nuclear Testing Grounds Program, we've acquired a large, barren tract of North Dakota land, the exciting setting for our huge, 75-story apartment complex. It's just like the ones you find in big cities, only without the museums, parks, shops and other cultural amenities that make cities so crowded to live in! At Gravel Vista Gardens, you'll find floor after identical floor of two-bedroom, one-bedroom and no-bedroom apartments in the middle of nowhere, the way you've always dreamed of!

At Gravel Vista Gardens, we provide everything you've come to expect from apartment living in big cities:

- Occasional elevator inspections!
- Insect and rodent infestations professionally maintained!
- Doormen dressed in uniforms reminiscent of admirals in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas!
- Nightly car-alarm barrages!
- Shadowy drifters wandering the halls, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week!

Plus, we've added these exclusive Gravel Vista Gardens-only luxuries:

- ✓ Cable Ready!*
- ✓ Walk-In Bedrooms!
- ✓ Rooftop Playground with Low Fence Provides Unobstructed Scenic Views for Kids!
- ✓ Mirrored Toilets!
- ✓ Putting Green in Kitchens!
- ✓ Intercoms with Dolby Sound!
- ✓ Complimentary Floors and Walls (Ceilings Extra!)
- ✓ Coin-Operated Balconies!
- ✓ Fireplace in Showers!
- ✓ Cemetery on Premises!
- ✓ Microwave Ovens with Stained Glass Windows!

*History Channel only

Located a mere 73 miles from the nearest hospital, Gravel Vista Gardens appeals to the most eclectic and demanding tastes. Surrounded on one side by a horseback trail, on another side by a missile range and on yet another side by a juvenile correction facility, you will have most of your needs met here!

Apartment model (1:24th scale) now open for inspection!

Directions: Take North Dakota Highway 704 to the Grubb off-ramp. Go to the Shell station and ask Fred the pump man how to get here.

Sub-brainy THE TEENAGE WRETCH

I'm Sub-Brainy, the Teenage Wretch! On my sixteenth birthday, I found I could levitate, change people into fruits and vegetables, even bring dead frogs back to life! It was amazing to find I could do just about anything — that is, anything but ACT! I'm 18 years old now and only in my third year of high school! So, as you can see, having special powers has nothing to do with having brains!

I'm Hell-duh, one of Sub-Brainy's eccentric aunts! I'm teaching Sub-Brainy the ins and outs of witchery! This closet, for example, takes us into another dimension! It's like a travel bureau minus the brochures! It also stores our travel vehicles! This big broom is for long-distance travel. For short-distance travel, I use this Dust Buster!

I'm Zell-duh, Sub-Brainy's other eccentric aunt! Actually, we both act like stupid dweebs, but "eccentric" sounds cuter! In the comic book version of Sub-Brainy, I have bright green hair! On this TV show, I'm blonde! Too bad, because bright green is my natural color!

I'm Hardly, Sub-Brainy's boyfriend! I know I seem shy and not-too-bright, and it looks like my life is going nowhere, but that's just on the surface! Underneath, I have a foolproof plan for the future: When I grow up, I plan on being older than I am now! Co-oo-l, huh?

I'm Tail'em, the talking cat! You'll have to forgive me for looking so downcast! I just got back from Disney World, and it left me very depressed! I can't believe how good Disney's animatronics are — and how crappy MINE are! A paper clip is more animated than me! Hell, AL GORE is more animated than me!

I'm off to school!

While you're gone, we're gonna do a bit of traveling into the other realm!

One of the perks of being a witch is that we can move ahead into the future and see next year's movies!

Can you see next year's TV shows, too?

If we wanted to, but when it comes to TV shows, we prefer to go backwards — to steal old ideas! We stole the idea for this show from Bewitched! But we made some changes to avoid lawsuits!

Yeah, they changed it by taking out Bewitched's charm, wit and originality!

You have such strange things in your locker — a cauldron, a broom, frog's toes, weasel eye-lashes, yak spit, bat eyeballs...

Tell me, what should I have in my locker?

Regular teenage girl things! You know, nail polish, lipstick, drugs, condoms, maybe a handgun or two!

Maybe THAT'S why the other students think I'm strange!

Hi, Freakoid Geek Girl!

Why're you always so mean to Sub-Brainy?

Because she's a loser! She has a mustache!

She doesn't have a mustache!

I know, but "mustache" is a funny word, especially when applied to a girl! That's "comic license"!

I've got news for you! The comic license for this show was revoked half-way through the pilot!

You think you're a big shot, just because you're a cheerleader!

I'm not JUST a cheerleader! I'm HEAD cheerleader! I live, eat, sleep and dream cheerleading! When I go to college, I'm going for a Ph.D. in Cheerleading! And I'll minor in Advanced Pompom Repair and Baton Twirling Aerodynamics!

Mean as you are, Pillary, you sure are together! You've planned a wonderful, rewarding life for yourself!

Hi, Sub-Brainy! Wanna go to the cafeteria and get some lunch?

But we just got to school! We haven't gone to any classes yet!

That's okay! This is Sitcom High School! We only go to classes when we can think of a funny situation that takes place in a classroom!

Oh, THAT'S why we rarely go to class!

I hate cafeteria food! I'll just zap myself something better! ZAP! CRACKLE! POP! There, that's better — I just created a delicious meal for me and Hardy! Now I'll just zap a piece of rat hair into it to make it more like authentic school cafeteria food!

Something's strange here!

What're you talking about?

Well, for starters, there's no turkey on the menu!

And then there's the matter of our table! You sat down and all of a sudden we had real silverware, a candelabra and strolling musicians!

Oh, that stuff — I, er, I had it in my lunchbox! My aunts pack everything in there!

Attention! This is Mr. Crafty! The party planned for Saturday night in the school gym is canceled! We know all the students were REALLY looking forward to the party, and quite frankly, that's why we canceled it! That is all!

Damn! I wanted to go to that party so bad! I was looking forward to slow dancing with you, Sub-Brainy!

This sounds like a chance for some sort of a plot-line! I know! I'll have the party at MY house!

The Saturday night party at school got canceled!

Darn! I can't think of anything more sucky!

So I told everyone we'd have the party here!

I just thought of something MORE sucky!

To outshine that rich, stuck-up cheerleader Pillary, I lied a bit about our house!

Lied? How?

I told them we had a library, an atrium, a swimming pool, a gym...

It's gonna take a lot of magic to create all that by Saturday!

No it won't! I just used my magic to clone ten Bob Vilas!

She has the power to clone any man and she picks Bob Vila? No wonder she's a lonely old spinster!

Are you proud of me? You always say I don't do enough of the housework around here, but look! I filled six bags with garbage!

How'd you do that? We keep this place spot-less!

Easy! I materialized them! So, should we re-cycle this garbage?

Yes! Re-cycling garbage is what we do best here!

Word of the party spread to the other realm, and old friends are coming over to this realm to attend!

Why are they in costume?! It's not a Halloween party!

You know how it is here! There's no rhyme or reason for anything!

And if anyone complains about a "lack of logic," we just zap them into thin air!

Hmm...I'm surprised there haven't been more disappearances of TV critics since this show started!

Sub-Brainy. I heard you're a witch! Teach me how to do magic!

Wow! I'll try it! I'm gonna wish for some real entertainment! And for some real laughs here!

It's easy! All you need to do is wish for something real hard!

Sorry, magic doesn't work when you ask for the impossible!

Look! It's Cousin Mortified, the world's worst magician!

Abra! Abra! Hmm, I guess I didn't say enough magic words! All I pulled out of this hat were rabbit ears!

Too bad we have cable, or we could use rabbit ears! Rabbit ears, cable...?! Get it?! This is what I do on the show, repeat the "jokes" till the laugh track catches up!

Cousin Mortified, you were supposed to fill us in on details of the family secret!

Oh, right! The secret is, we've cast a spell on everyone listed in this book! Every Friday night it makes them click over to our show and stare at it in a dumb stupor!

I thought the family secret was that this "celebrity cameo" was the only work Dom DeLuise has been able to get in years!

Auntie, I heard you had a great idea for the finale of my party! What is it?!

You know how we use celebrities on this show to help boost ratings?

Well Zel-Duh and I thought we'd gather all the famous real celebrity witches who are on this planet already and bring them here for your party!

Here's your real celebrity witch line-up, Sub-Brainy!

These are supposed to be all witches! What's Richard Simmons doing there?! Isn't he a warlock?

Mmmm...Not really!

Okay witches! Grab your brooms and let's do our flying aerobics!

Dating isn't easy — meeting someone, trying to let him know you like him, then finally getting the putz to ask you out. Sometimes you're lucky enough to find the right guy, but for every Mr. Right out there, there are thousands of Mr. Wrongs (many of them named Earl)! There are, however, certain signs, inklings and tipoffs to tell the two apart and separate the wheat from the chaff. As a service to single women everywhere, we now present...

A MAD Guide to MR. RIGHT And MR. WRONG

JEALOUSY:

MR. RIGHT: Gets jealous when your ex-boyfriend says "hi"

MR. WRONG: Punches out your dad after he calls you "honey"

ATTENTIVENESS:

MR. RIGHT: Walks you to the door

MR. WRONG: Walks you to the door... of the bathroom stall

BREAKING UP:

MR. RIGHT: Says he'll die if you ever dump him

MR. WRONG Vaguely mentions that someone will die if you dump him

MAKING UP:

MR. RIGHT: Wishes that all disagreements could be settled as quickly as possible

LOVE LETTERS:

MR. RIGHT: Leaves a sweet little poem comparing you to a flower

MR. WRONG: Writes a 40-page, rambling manifesto comparing your love to that of Roseanne and Tom Arnold

DEVOTION:

MR. RIGHT: Says that you're the most important person in his life

SENSITIVITY:

MR. RIGHT: Cries during sad movies

MR. WRONG: Cries when he runs out of Count Chocula

SHARING:

MR. RIGHT: Wants to know absolutely everything about you

PICTURES:

MR. WRONG: Wishes that all disagreements could be settled in a steel cage

MR. RIGHT Keeps a picture of you on his night stand

MR. WRONG: Keeps posting doctored, nude photos of you on the Internet

FAMILY:

MR. WRONG: Says that as long as he's the fan club president, the Justice League will always come first

MR. RIGHT: Takes you home to meet his parents

MR. WRONG: Claims he can't, because of "that crazy court order"

FIX-UPS:

MR. WRONG: Seems mainly interested in learning your cash machine PIN number

MR. RIGHT: Offers to set your sister up with his best friend

MR. WRONG: Winks and mentions that he has plenty of love to go around a MAD Look at

HOTELS

ARTIST AND WRITER: SERGIO ARAGONES

Ever since he stood upright, man looked upwards to the heavens. He gazed upon the majestic swirl of the cosmic matter above, pondered his own role in the primordial soup of creation, and dared to wonder, "Wouldn't this be even cooler with Will Smith in it?" And so, for these geek-oid doofuses, we offer...

MAD'S SCIENCE FICTION PRIMER

MAD'S SCIENCE FICTION PRIMER

Chapter 1 THE SPACE HERO

See the space hero.
Facing 400 laser-wielding soldiers, he tells his buddy, "I'll take the 200 on the left."
Meeting a three-headed alien, he asks, "Which one of you is Moe?"
Trapped by a ravenous lizard with 12-foot-long teeth, he quips, "I don't suppose I could interest you in a salad?"
Schtick, schtick, schtick!
He would last about two minutes in actual combat. But he always manages to save the universe from evil. So he receives the galaxy's highest honor. A really bad drawing on a collector's cup from Burger King.

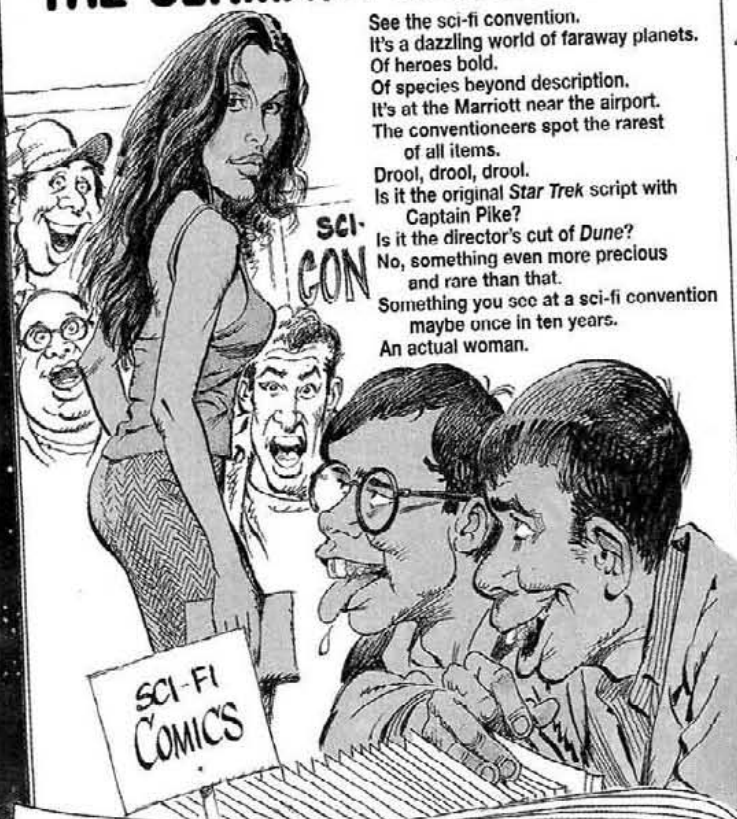

Chapter 2 THE ULTIMATE WONDER

See the sci-fi convention.
It's a dazzling world of faraway planets.
Of heroes bold.
Of species beyond description.
It's at the Marriott near the airport.
The conventioners spot the rarest of all items.

Drool, drool, drool.
Is it the original Star Trek script with Captain Pike?

Is it the director's cut of Dune?
No, something even more precious and rare than that.

Something you see at a sci-fi convention
maybe once in ten years.
An actual woman.

Chapter 3 THE SECRET AUTOPSY LAB PART I

See the underground government lab.
They're doing an autopsy
on the alien's brain.
Oops! The alien isn't quite dead!
It has burst to life!
Yipes, yipes, yipes!
The alien kills the scientists.
The alien tries to escape.
What a shame.
The lab cost 150 million dollars.
But they only spent $29.95 for the big sheet of glass.

Chapter 6 THE TERMINATOR

See the uninhabitable wasteland.
See the thick black smoke and twisted steel wreckage.
Is it Detroit after a major sports event?
No, silly. It's the future.
An evil computer is crushing the rebels.
Crush, kill, destroy.
The evil computer sends a cyborg
back into the past.
It will kill the rebel leader's mom.
Once she is dead, the rebel leader will never be born.
Er—but—since it's ALREADY the future —and since the evil computer is ALREADY fighting the rebel leader
—it knows the plan NEVER worked. So why bother?

Chapter 7 THE OTHER TERMINATOR

Hold it.
Let's go back.
There is a different possible future.
It has a much bigger budget than the first future.
The evil computer has wised up.
The evil computer sends a second cyborg into the past.
This time, the cyborg will try to kill the rebel leader when he's just a boy.
If this cyborg fails, the evil computer will send ANOTHER cyborg
one minute earlier in time.
And a fourth...
And a fifth...
Until one of them does
the job right.
So much for Terminator III.

Chapter 4 THE SECRET AUTOPSY LAB PART II

See the heroine.
The heroine runs down the hall.
The heroine shuts the sliding metal door.
The alien slams into the door
and makes a huge dent.
Then he makes another.
Slam, slam, slam!
Does the heroine run?
Does the heroine flee?
Not yet.
First she waits until the alien breaks THROUGH the door.
Hmmm...
They might have been doing the autopsy on the wrong brain.

Chapter 5 THE SCI-FI TV SHOW

See the sci-fi TV show.
See the council of elders pass judgment on others.
Look at their creased, spotted, inhuman skin.
Look at their hideous, enlarged foreheads.
Look at their glazed eyes and craggy faces.
Oops, we're watching Sixty Minutes.
Tick, tick, tick. Click, click, click.

Chapter 8 THE TECH WIZARD

See the computer whiz.
He's breaking into the aliens'
computer nerve center.
Hack, hack, hack.
Only he can save the
Earth from destruction.
He's going to hack into the alien computer and upload a virus.
Isn't it lucky he only needs
a five-letter password?
Isn't it lucky his computer terminal is magically connected to all the alien computers within 1,000 miles?
Isn't it lucky the aliens were too busy maslring Interdimensional space travel to program a simple virus firewall protector?

Chapter 9 THE SCI-FI FAN

Today is opening day of the new sci-fi blockbuster.
See the long line of moviegoers.
Long, long, long.
See the first person on line.
He's a big fan.
He downloaded the script off the 'Net.
He found secret sketches of the monster.
He read all the gossip.
And previews. And reviews.
And interviews with the cast.
He will think the movie was so-so.
He will say it "had no surprises."
